Make every meeting count

Increase effectiveness of internal meetings

AV and IT technologies are converging in today's meeting rooms, allowing you to increase knowledge sharing and communications. The meeting and event technology experts at PSAV® Presentation Services bring professional meeting communication and technical experience right to your corporate facility.

On-site technology experts

With PSAV, you get dedicated on-site experts and a single point of contact consulting and managing in partnership with you. We work as a seamless part of your team, with intimate knowledge of your technical meeting needs and corporate culture, so we blend right in. PSAV provides proactive services for your executives, vip's and attendees.

Meeting space design

Today's world of ever changing technology demands that audiovisual designs within a facility be developed early, as an integral part of the overall project. PSAV offers a complete program of Audiovisual Consulting, Design, Engineering, Installation, and Support Services that assures project quality, consistency, and dependability. PSAV plans and executes all Design and Installation activities in close communication with all project team members — both internal and external — to assure coordination of efforts and details.

Unparalleled resources

As the premier meeting and event technology company in the business, PSAV gives you unparalleled access to more equipment, personnel and the best technical resources in the industry.

On-site and at your service

When a meeting goes live, it's much more than an event that requires equipment and an AV guy. It's an experience. It's a show. It takes someone who will work with your company as a team to pull it all together. No one is more experienced than the event technology experts at PSAV.
